

ARCHOS Oxygen 101 S and its Sound Dock, the obvious win for an extended user experience at home

Paris – Thursday, February 21st, 2019 – ARCHOS, the French pioneer of consumer electronics, today unveils its dedicated Oxygen 101 S' Sound Dock. This compelling offer, comprised of a premium pedigree tablet paired to a very useful dock for a fast charge and a signature sound, is allowing many more usages at home, all hands-free. The ARCHOS Oxygen 101 S and its Sound Dock will be available across Europe in May 2019 at €169.

Outstanding screen

The ARCHOS Oxygen 101 S embeds a large 10.1-inch Full HD IPS screen. This gorgeous edge-to-edge display is ideal for viewing pictures or watching videos.

Extreme power

The ARCHOS Oxygen 101 S comes packed with a deca-core 4G chipset (MediaTek Helio X20) delivering heavier performance and full connectivity. It is equipped with 3GB of RAM / 32GB of ROM for increased fluidity and faster response to any task. It runs Google latest operating system, Android™ 9 Pie, with its bunch of new features, navigation system, screen-time controls, battery optimization, and privacy tweaks, not forgetting the complete access to the Google Play store and its +1,3 million applications, books, games, and films. It includes a long lasting 6,000mAh battery for great distractions during long time travels.

Signature sound

The ARCHOS Oxygen 101 S places itself very easily in its Sound Dock, using simply its pogo pins, which provides with instant charging and room-filling sound. Thanks to its two 4-watt speakers (along with its two passive radiators), it spreads an ultra-clear, loud and punchy sound for enjoying any multimedia content.

With built-in Bluetooth 4.2 LE connectivity, it also welcomes many other compatible devices.

Extended user experience at home, all hands-free

Much more than the sum of its parts, the ARCHOS Oxygen 101 S placed in its Sound Dock, allows users to ask Google Assistant for immediate answers:

- Latest updates: news, emails check, events scheduled for the next days, weather forecast, traffic conditions, etc.
- Music playlists or videos: after a long day at work, users can enjoy music or videos from their favorite streaming services, to get entertained, to check tutorials for the kids' homework or to obtain the help needed in the kitchen to prepare a nice meal.
- And even voice-command their smart home equipment, lights, HVAC, security cameras, etc.

Additionally, the ARCHOS Oxygen 101 S includes some serviceable front and back cameras, for video calls, an ultra-fast fingerprint sensor, together with the ability to set-up different profiles, for access to customized content between parents and children.

Availability and prices

Exhibited at the MWC 2019 (Hall #6 – Booth #B60), the ARCHOS Oxygen 101 S and its Sound Dock will be available throughout Europe in May 2019, at €169.

The ARCHOS Oxygen 101 S will also be available as a stand-alone pack at €149.
